MJ-12: Modern India: 1858-1947 Credits 04 (Full Marks: 75)

MJ-12T: Modern India: 1858-1947 Credits 04

Course outcome*: The local theme of this paper is to acquaint students with the growth of Indian nationalism after 1857 and the eventual foundation of Modern India. It throws light on several deeper and more nuanced developments of the 19th and 20th Centuries, which were the outcome of the emergence of nationalist consciousness and the awareness of colonial exploitation. The ideas and ideologies that transcend regions, linguistic, religious, and caste lines, fostering a collective national identity, are the subject matter of study. This period set the stage for the more organized mass movements of the early 20th Century, eventually culminating in India's independence in 1947. It experienced the partition of India and also its aftermath. The paper also incorporates the formation of 'New India' as dreamt by Nehru.
