Syllabus for LL.M.

EFFECTIVE FROM THE ACADEMIC SESSION, 2025-26

Preamble

The Post-Graduate (LL.M.) programme provides an in-depth understanding of advanced legal studies with a strong emphasis on Constitutional Law, Jurisprudence, Criminal Law, Business Law, Human Rights and emerging interdisciplinary domains. The programme is designed to develop analytical, research-oriented and policy-driven legal professionals equipped to engage with contemporary legal challenges at both national and global levels.

To enhance academic flexibility, the syllabus incorporates a wide range of elective papers, enabling students to specialize in areas aligned with their academic interests and career aspirations. Courses on the Indian Knowledge System (IKS), Legal Ethics, Constitutional Values, and Law & Society are also included to promote holistic academic development and foster a deeper understanding of India's legal and philosophical traditions.

The LL.M. programme has evolved in response to the dynamic nature of legal education and research. The introduction of postgraduate legal studies under the Faculty of Law has contributed significantly to academic excellence and scholarly engagement. The syllabus emphasizes both theoretical and applied aspects of law, while also aligning with the requirements of national-level competitive examinations such as UGC-NET (Law), Judicial Services Examinations, and other state-level eligibility tests. The programme equips students with advanced research and professional skills through courses in legal research methodology, comparative law, legislative drafting, and legal writing, along with opportunities for internships, court visits, fieldwork, legal aid clinics, and seminar presentations.

A research project/ dissertation encourages students to undertake independent, original research in their chosen specialization. This course is designed to strengthen critical thinking, empirical research skills, and academic writing proficiency.

The thrust areas of research within the programme include Constitutional Governance, Human Rights, Corporate Regulation, Criminal Justice Reforms and Intellectual Property Rights, ensuring that the LL.M. programme maintains a balanced focus on legal theory, practical application, and advanced research.
